Council and Car Owners Hunt for Solutions to Parking Problems

Parking is everybody's favorite Princeton problem, and about 35 people accepted the invitation of Mayor and Council to drop into Borough Hall Tuesday night to talk about it.

Nothing formal, you understand, just give us your views. And they did, in a lengthy and heartily good-humored talk fest.

Overnight parking is the subject Council wanted most to hear about. Councilman Martin P. Lombardo is uneasy about the present Borough ban on overnight parking. He feels that it's unfair to people who live in smaller, older homes that have no driveways. He considers the $20-$30 monthly sum of these people have to pay to rent a parking space, and he thinks that for many, it's a financial burden.

Public parking yard space is reeved at $5 a month, and he suspects even that is high for many families. So what do people think?

"People who don't live on my street park there all day," was the tart opener from Mrs. Kathleen Edwards, 25 Green Street, "and if you lift the ban, they'll park there all night." She was applauded.

Warming up, she went on: "If you let cars park overnight, it will increase crime and vandalism.

Strangers loiter in the area now and there will be more. Fire-trucks won't be able to get through.

"Snow can't be cleared off. Our area doesn't get its streets cleaned enough as it is. I think people might be allowed to park in municipal lots at reasonable rates, or you could have one or two streets, well-lit, for all-night parking."

Mayor Robert W. Cawley reported that he'd asked Donald Harney, Borough engineer, to make a rough tally. Six streets, Mr. Harney reported back, had 57 houses without driveways, (Bank, Spruce, Moran, Pine, Chestnut and part of Wiggins.)

Mayor Cawley said he thought the overall Borough total was closer to 75-100. Mr. Lombardo said there were even more than that.

About 45 minutes into the informal hearing, Scott Bailey of 90 Cleveland Lane was sitting in the front row of the audience, suddenly said, "I think we should have been informed that Mr. Lombardo is taping this meeting. Council itself makes tapes, but private parties?" He asked about the legalities. Borough Attorney Gordon Griffin suggested that Council should perhaps set a policy on the matter. Mr. Lombardo said he simply wanted to be sure he caught everyone's remarks.)

Mrs. Saul Lambert, 15 Bondinot, said she didn't like people parking in front of her house, either, and furthermore, Borough police didn't enforce the two-hour parking signs, and were actually encouraging people to park on residential streets, (specifically suggesting Bondinot) and "my street is suddenly a municipal parking lot!"

Residents of Madison called out in agreement. Yes, Madison is that way, too.

Councilman Alice Male admitted that the two hour limit isn't enforced. "We've asked you here to help solve some of these problems," she told the audience, "We want

This Is Princeton

WANT TO RUN?

Political Season Begins. Dads are barely in bloom, but Princeton's political parties are already looking seven months ahead to the November elections.

If primaries are on June 8, candidates must file by April 29, which is only two weeks away. A court ruling on re-apportionment might result in a September primary, and if that happens, the filing date won't be until July or August.

Right now, however, everybody is thinking about April 29.

Borough: This is majority year in the Borough, and a big one it is. For the first time in history under a new state law, the mayor who is elected will hold office for four years instead of the usual two. Republican Mayor Robert W. Cawley, scarcely a year and a half into his first term, has to decide whether he really wants another four years. He has not said publicly whether he will run again.

Democratic Terms Expire. Two Councilmen, both Democrats, are up for election. Alice Male, in her first term on Council, said this week she would be happy to be considered for a second term by the Democrats' screening committee.

John Strange, the other Democrat, committed himself to running for election when he was appointed on January 1 to fill the vacant Council seat of James Andrews, so the Democrats already have a built-in candidate.

Councilman Robert Hendry is frequently mentioned as a Democratic candidate for mayor. He is now in his second term on Council. His term expires in 1972.

This Sunday, at 7:30 p.m., the Princeton Community Democratic Organization will meet anybody who wants to be a candidate at the home of Jack Fenton, 24 Chestnut Street. Mr. Fenton is Borough vice-president for the PCDO.

We plan to invite Mr. Hendry to come and talk with us," Mr. Fenton said.

Agreement Sought. Princeton's other Democratic organization, the Princeton Democratic Association, has scheduled a meeting for this Wednesday to talk about candidates. It is general knowledge that Mr. Hendry is probably regarded more favorably by the PDA than by the PCDO.

"I hope both groups can agree on a slate we both endorse," Mr. Fenton said this week. He pointed out that the two groups worked harmoniously and victoriously in last fall's municipal elections.

He emphasized that the P.C.D.O. is "committed to an open primary," and he declined to use the phrase "screening committee."

However, P.C.D.O. has formed a 20-member committee from both Borough and Township to consider possible candidates. It consists of Elaine Schuman, Donald Venable, Dede Nini, Richard Bergman and John Ellis from the Township County Committee; Marion Moffat, Peter Mark, Helen Fairbanks, Phyllis Sinker and Herbert Abelson from the Township at large.

Borough members are Jon Schneider, Ethel Pankove, Ulysses Johnson, Murray Medwin and Cathleen Litvack from the County Committee and Nancy Browder, Joseph Stonaker, Robert van de Velde, Alan Williams and Mr. Fenton from the Borough at large.

Township: The two Committees set up for reelection this fall are both Democratic. One is Mayor James A. Floyd, the other is Thomas Hartmann.

If only one of the posts should go to a Republican, Township Committee would swing from its present 12-2 Democratic majority back to its former 32-2 Republican majority, and the municipality would probably have a Republican mayor again.

Mr. Hartmann says yes, he'd like to be a candidate and will so present himself to the Democrats' steering committee.

Mr. Floyd says he's still doing a lot of "soul searching" and is turning the question over in his mind.

SIX TRUSTEES NAMED

To Aid in Replacing Goheen, R. Manning Brown of 50 Westcott Road has reported selection of a sub-committee of six Princeton University trustees to proceed with the search for a candidate to succeed Dr. Robert F. Goheen. A decision is expected by the end of this year, or early in 1972.

Mr. Brown, a member of the Class of 1936, is chairman of the executive committee of the University's board of trustees, and will head the subcommittee named this week. He will be assisted by the Rev. Dr. John B. Coburn '36, New York; John M. Doar '44, Brooklyn; Richard R. Hough '39, and Donald B. Kipp '38, both of Morrisstown; Laurence S. Rockefeller '32, New York; and H. Chapman Rose '28, Cleveland.

The recommendations of the Search Committee, Mr. Brown said, will go to the full 30-member Board of Trustees, "who will have the final responsibility of selecting the new President."

Mr. Brown issued the following statement outlining procedure:

"In the initial undertaking we will consider the characteristics needed for the University presidency in the 1970's. We will seek the advice of others who are concerned with the welfare and the future of Princeton. As we begin to consider individuals whom we may seek or who may be recommended as President, we will also consult with and receive advice from the large community of the University."

"For these purposes we particularly want to consult representatives of the faculty.

students, non-academic staff, and the alumni. As early as feasible meetings will be scheduled with elected representatives of these groups. The alumni have such a body in the Executive Committee of the Alumni Council, and the faculty, students, and staff have been asked to elect advisory committees.

"I have also asked for individuals of the University community, wherever they may be, to send me their thoughts, and it is my hope that friends of Princeton will similarly help."

The recommendations of our Search Committee will go to the full Board of Trustees, who will have the final responsibility of selecting the new President. The work of the Search Committee and its consultation with individuals and with representatives of concerned groups, I believe, will enable the Board to exercise that responsibility in the most effective way."

2 COEDS DISCIPLINED

For Slashing Nude Pin-Ups. Two Princeton University coeds who slashed nearly half of a male student's four-wall collection of nude pin-ups have been put on disciplinary probation until June by a student-faculty discipline committee.

Mary E. Stansell, a senior, and Susan Petty, a sophomore, admitted entering the room of senior Gary Oleson on March 12, armed with paring knives, and cutting many of his pinups to shreds. The girls said they were prattling the way the nude pictures "exploited the female body."

Mr. Oleson said he didn't offer resistance because he was not wearing his glasses. The girls, however, contended that he was afraid to get out of bed because he didn't have anything on. He said he would not press civil court charges against the girls.

Parking Problems Discussed

enforceable laws, and we want your help."

The most spectacular help, very nearly psychodrama in its daring, came from Fred Wegel, North Post Road, Princeton Junction.

"Another name for parking garages. For 250 cars, with expanding I'm far up to 500. Tax each car-owner at least the equivalent of his state registration fee. Use the money to pay the bonds for building the car silos."

When you have a silo — on the Haulfish Chambers lot — grow up the Playhouse black top and plant grass and trees. Build a restaurant and ball room there, and lease it to the volunteer fire companies."

"People without specific in-fronies should walk or cycle. Promote motorbikes—less polluting than cars. In bad weather, municipal mini-buses. A $5 fine for jaywalking, payable on the spot."

"We judge public transportation by the profit motive is ridiculous. Haven't done it in Europe for years."

Problems Cited. When Council and audience came down to earth from Mr. Westel's trip, Mr. Strange soberly set forth alternatives:

• Cars overnight on the streets would present grave problems of police patrolling, snow and rubbish cleaning, garbage collection, fire access, vandalism, abandoned cars.
• Cars allowed over night would ease some economic hardship and inconvenience. Like many in the audience, so many it seemed a consensus Mr. Strange apparently feels that the use of municipal lots for overnight parking may be a solution.

Mr. Lombardo observed at one point that the Township allows overnight parking on all its streets and doesn't seem to have acute problems of vandalism, crime or access by firetruck. Questioned by Mr. Bailey, he said he had no "count" of Borough residents handicapped by the overnight parking ban.

Fire companies, stated Chief Ralph Kleiber, vote their "strong, unequivocal opposition" to removing the overnight ban. The Chamber of Commerce doesn't want it lifted either. Magistrate Theodore Tams, reported Councilman Robert Hendry, thinks it's easier for police to sweep both sidewalks and streets with car headlights and thereby keep down crime, if no cars are parked.

Good Neighbor Policy. But Joseph Mangone, who lives on Spruce Street, protested that he was dependent on the largesse of neighbors who allow him to park in their driveways at night because he has no place of his own.

Vincent Sassman, 11 Leavitt

Lane, jumped to his feet to say that there seemed to be only one person in the audience — apparently Mr. Mangone — who had no overnight parking spot.

"Clear streets at night means that Princeton is a really nice town," declared Councilman Charles Cornforth. "Removing the ban would be a step toward making Princeton into 'Anywhere, U.S.A.'" He then applauded.

Turning to economic hardship, he speculated that the widow who must pay $200 a year for parking privileges may be paying it to another widow who needs the $200 for her own livelihood.

"On my street, Chestnut, there are widows who rent out their driveways and don't want this ban lifted," commented Mr. Hendry.

In his role as Police Commissioner, he then said that police gave out 100 tickets in two-hour zones and would give out more, except for the limited number of police available. Overall parking studies are in progress, Mayor Hawley reminded everyone. He said that property-owners will be consulted as regulations are under consideration.

"Too Far to Walk." Leaving night-time streets and turning to the Central Business District in the day-time, Mayor Cawley first listened to a petitioner with engineering signatures protesting removal of 40 all day meters from Tulane to William Street.

"It's too far to walk," she said. She asked for an "all day parking building."

Mr. Cornforth defended the move to William Street. "It's to free the prime shopping area in the center of the business district," he explained, drawing a sketch on the bulletin board. "and it is indeed putting cars on residential streets. But police tell us that where those all-day meters used to be, there are always places to park now, except in the lunch-hours between noon and 2."

The next counter to be moved in the checker game may be the Chambers lot. Mr. Cornforth told the audience, Mrs. Robert Nelson told Council that IBM staff in the Pickering Building on Chambers met and feed all day in the Chambers lot.

"The business life of this whole area depends on turnover in meters," observed Mayor Cawley.

One unanswered question: the Borough has a 30-minute limit in front of Borough Hall. Did anybody who parked along that curb and stayed out Council's post-midnight adjournment, get a ticket?

POLICE ORDINANCE AGAIN
Repeal Introduced. Borough Council introduced, by 3-2 vote, the ordinance repealing last December's so-called "police assistance" ordinance. Public hearing Tuesday, May 11.

John Strange, who introduced the measure; Martin P. Lombardo and Joseph P. Moore voted "yes"; Charles Cornforth and Robert Hendry voted "no" and Alice Male abstained.

The ordinance up for repeal, says that no one shall inter-fer with the police in the performance of their duty, and no one shall disobey lawful or reasonable requests for help from a police officer.

The vote came after long discussion among Councilmen and audience about the meaning of a vote to introduce. "Is this a ploy to half-way pass it?" asked Edward Ahrens, Westcott Road.

Procedure Explained. Mr. Strange explained repeatedly and patiently to many speakers that voting to introduce merely got the ordinance legal, ly out on the table for discussion and did not mean passage. Mr. Cornforth protested that the question could be discussed informally as parking had been earlier in the evening, without the need for an ordinance introduction.

"There hasn't been enough discussion with our new Council members," Mr. Hendry declared. "Never once did they come to the Police Committee to talk it over."

And he produced the Borough's 1938 fire ordinance, which has almost identical language about interfering with firemen or "disobeying" if they ask for help. He proposed an amendment to eliminate these provisions from the fire ordinance. "We have the same wording in this ordinance, and fire and police should be treated the same," he said.

Mr. Strange refused Mr. Hendry's amendment. Each should be considered separately, he said.

Opinions Offered. Although public hearing won't be until May 11, audience and Council made their views heard anyway.

"How do I know a policeman would be doing the right thing?" demanded Mrs. Kathleen Edwards, 25 Green Street. "How do I know there wouldn't be brutality or racism? Am I going to end up here in the jailhouse because a cop doesn't agree with me? What do you mean 'lawful' request. You spell it out, so that we know exactly what it means."

Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan explained that both he and the Mercer County prosecutor want the ordinance, as passed last December.

Nothing holds a family together like the fun of swimming in the sparkling clear water of your own swimming pool. The pleasures of swimming — or just plain splashing — are as old as man himself, and appeal equally to all age groups — toddlers, and senior citizens alike, with no generation gap in between.

Few pleasures in this upright world can compare with the feeling of physical and mental well-being derived from a relaxing hour in a Sylvan pool. Your step becomes springier, you feel more relaxed. You look, and act years younger.

"It's a good tool for us to have," he explained. "I can't understand the opposition. All good, law-abiding citizens would support an officer if asked." A mixture of applause and boos greeted his last comment. The Chief then said that there had been obstruction and interfering with police during that afternoon's disturbance on Nassau Street.

Referring to Mr. Hendry's comparison of police and fire ordinances, Robert van de Velde, 22 Western Way, said fires occurred infrequently but "police power is a dangerous, necessary and constant power."

Scott Bailey, 30 Cleveland Lane, pressed Mr. Strang to say why he wanted to repeal the ordinance.

Change in Outlook. Citizens of the Borough had asked for repeal, the Councilman replied, and he referred to the "considerable change" on Council with the election of his colleagues, Mr. Moore and Lombardo, and his own appointment.

"Some people feel the ordinance is unnecessary, insulting to citizens and police," Mr. Strang said. "It's like saying the police can't act on their own; it's a slap at certain groups and possibly unconstitutional." Mayor Robert W. Cawley explained that "There is always an opportunity to re-examine our laws — it's related to the sensitivity of a governing body to the feeling of the community."

Mr. Cornforth cast his opposition in seasonal terms, and said, "Baseball is here, and I want three strikes at this foul ball one before the ordinance is introduced, one after and a third at the hearing."

He pointed out that the ordinance was passed unanimously after it had been amended in response to requests from the audience at the December public hearing.

"We're asking whether we want to make it easy for a person to disobey the police," he declared, to calls of "No!" from members of the audience. "Refusal of a police request is the right of no one," he continued, "and to repeal this ordinance would be a singular, disservice to the community."

"It's a Small Town," When Lombardo, LaPlaca, 25 Van Wyck, said Princeton, as a small town, didn't need to worry about police because "I know Pete McGrohan and I know we can all hold him responsible," Councilman Lombardo replied. "But we don't know who will be chief tomorrow."

April Aftermath

I like to watch
A nice spring man
But late to see
Those branches go.

Last week's wet, heavy snow disfigured many a shrub and tree, though it provided some picturesque scenery. Even the four inches that fell in some areas were only a memory by Thursday, however, after the sun returned to New Jersey.

A return to cooler weather is the immediate story, but sunshine is expected to dominate the scene. In fact, the main reports hopefully, light should be the forecast right through the weekend, with temperatures gradually moving upward.

After the ordinance's introduction, Mr. Strang went a head and introduced a parallel amendment to the first ordinance. But Mr. Hendry apparently felt he had made his point, and there was no second, so the measure died.

In other actions, Council:

- Agreed to give $1,549 to the Princeton Day Care Center for two months' expenses.
- Introduced an ordinance raising taxi fares (hearing May 11) from 75c to $1 for within-the-Borough rides and gives carriage rates to groups to encourage taxi pools.
- Introduced the Borough's Regional Sewerage Group ordinance (it won't be introduced in the Township until May).
- Approved Mayor Cawley's appointment of Thomas Moore, 19 Green Street, and Miss Susan Mapes, to the Transportation Commission and Eric Craig, 173 Witherspoon, to the Sewer Operating Committee.

HOUSING, MAYBE

PCH Inches Ahead. Work may actually start this spring toward the Township's low- and middle-income housing project sponsored by Princeton Community Housing, Inc. Negotiations have concluded between the architects, the state's Housing Finance Agency and PCH. Charles Agle of Agle, Short and Holt and Morgan Associated Architects — he amalgam signed up to design the Township's units — said this week that "we hope to begin work when the topographical survey has been completed."

That's the survey of PCH's 23-plus acre site on a landlocked plot between Terhune and Mt. Lucas. About 200 apartments will be built here. Van Nole Harvey, low bidder for the survey project, (and the state must approve his appointment) hopes to get started before he leaves early next week, according to Theodore Vial, president of PCH. The survey could take about a month. Then Mr. Agle and his associates will begin to put designs on paper, and Mr. Vial hopes this will take no longer than two months.

Zoned for Office Use. At present, the 23-acre site is zoned Office Research. It could be switched to Residential either by a change in the zoning ordinance or by a use variance, and as Mr. Vial puts it, "there are pros and cons on which would be the best way to go."

The Princeton Regional Planning Board, most of whose members are sympathetic to the project, Mr. Vial points out, "has a lot of experts who will undoubtedly give us help." He said he hopes PCH can go before the Township by the end of June for the necessary legal adjustments.

Township Committeeman Jay Bleiman, who has been talking with Joseph Hodak, Township engineer, and with neighbors about the possible allocation of roads that would have to be built into the acreage. One of these is the so-called "Y" Road on the Township's Master Plan. American Can, whose research plant is just off Ewing and a neighbor of PCH's has agreed to co-operate in building their part of the road, Mr. Vial said.

Borough? Meanwhile, PCH is "dominant" in the Borough, Mr. Vial admits. "It makes more sense to do it first in the Township, where the project is more straightforward than in the Borough," he explains.

In the Borough, PCH has talked about apartments on the parking lots next to the public library and across Spring Street on the corner of Tulane, with parking garages underneath.

"In the Borough, the project is alive, but people are re-thinking it," Mr. Vial continues. "PCH has access to inexpensive funds—how would the Borough like best to use us? Is our proposed Borough project what Princeton wants?"

Mr. Vial said he had not yet met with Joseph Moore, Borough Councilman assigned

Thursday Is "Pay Day"

A penalty may be imposed on income tax unpaid by this Thursday, Roland H. Nash, Jr., IRS District Director for New Jersey, said this week.

The penalty, enacted as part of the Tax Reform Act of 1969, is one-half percent for each month or part of a month the payment is late, but the total penalty is limited to 25 percent.

The penalty is in addition to the regular interest charge of 6 percent per year on late payment of taxes.

as liaison to PCH. The Borough's architect is Robert Geddes.

TO SURVEY DAY CARE
What is the Need? A telephone survey to find out Princeton's day care needs for children will start next week under the auspices of the Council of Community Services.

Volunteers who would like to interview should call the Council at 924-5865. Training sessions will be held next Monday at 8 p.m. and next Tuesday at noon at Trinity Church.

Office of Economic Opportunity officials from Trenton, appeared Thursday before Borough Council's agenda session to ask for two months' funding. The Princeton Day Care Center receives OEO funds for only ten months a year.

Mrs. J. P. Cleaver, chairman of the Day Care Committee, wrote Council suggesting that the 12 toddlers now in the Center be transferred this summer to Princeton Nursery School's summer quarters at All Saints Chapel. OEO officials, however, declined to accept the offer.

Mrs. Henry Broad, of Princeton Nursery School,

Mrs. Felicia Simpson and Mrs. Haege also appeared before Council on the Day Care question. No decision was reached.

The Council of Community Services' questionnaire, to be used in its telephone survey has been contributed by Mrs. Diane Schreyer of Response Analysis Corporation. Organizations whose volunteers will conduct the interviews are the YWCA, Trinity Church, Princeton Nursery School, N.O.W. and Day Care Committee members.

Results will be tabulated by high school students who belong to the "Resistors," the computer club.

FENCE YOUR POOL
Ordinance Planned. An ordinance requiring the fencing of all Township swimming pools is in the works and may be ready for introduction Monday at Committee's regular 8 p.m. meeting.

The present ordinance says that a pool doesn't have to be fenced if it's 300 feet from a property line. The recent drowning of six-year-old Susan Frampton prompted tightening of the ordinance.

Committee will also introduce setting a 33 mph speed for Harrison Street. The ordinance deletes Harrison South, which is a Mercer County Road.

The Township's own Planning Board has agreed to change the off-street parking requirement for office buildings, and the measure will be introduced Monday. It will ease a developer's requirements by requiring one parking slot for every 300 square feet of space, instead of every 200 square feet, as at present.

ENTERTAINING MR. SLOANE

(Great Britain, 1970)

The screen version of the smash hit play by British playwright Joe Orton (Loaf, What the Butler Saw) is the quintessence of black farce. At once savage, witty and altogether original, Orton aimed to outsize — which he does, sinking at marriage, family, religion, sex and death. His unique comic vision combines the campy and the diabolic. The cast is a finely matched quartet (with playing with the precision and subtlety only the English can master) and includes: Beryl Reid (The Killing of Sister George), Peter McEnery, Alan Webb and Harry Andrews. (Rated R)

Saturday & Sunday, April 17 & 18

THE FORBIN PROJECT

(Great Britain, 1970, color)

Take a pinch of Frankenstein, the voice of Apollinaire, and season well with echoes of the Doomsday Machine (Dr. Strangelove) and HAL, the harried computer of 2001 and the result is The Forbin Project, a simple, unpretentious, but brilliant and even lyrical science fiction film made by the British last year. This is a "monster movie" for our times, and the monsters are two giant computers (one American) which run amok, enter jobs cannot, with one another, and assume the prerogatives of the merely mortal men who made them. (Rated G)

Monday & Tuesday, April 19 & 20

Bunuel's THE MILKY WAY

(France/Italy, 1968, color)

The Milky Way Ends Bunuel at his most daring and enigmatic, but his concern for once is with matters mystical and philosophical — not voyeuristic. The film takes the form of a fantasy, and resembles a kind of surrealist Pieterman's Progress through the Bunuel iconography. The result is a genial and familiar catalogue of his virulent and sophisticated opposition to Catholic Church, full of wit, compassion, and human confusion, photographed virgally, with no fantastic effects, but rather, a kind of comic cool. With Pierre Clementi, Michel Piccoli and Grigorie Yergin. (Rated R)

 Second Performance. Tickets for the first Princeton performance of the hit musical "1776" sold out within a week of opening sales, so McCarter hastily scheduled a second performance.

It will be Thursday, May 13, at 8:30 p.m. and tickets for this return match are now on sale.

Featured the second time as well as the first, will be the touring company headed by Patrick Hines and Paul Tripp. "1776" is based on events leading up to the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and it won both the New York Drama Critics and Tony Awards for the best musical of the 1968-69 season. It is still running in New York.

SINGING FOR TRIANGLE: Co-eds are still something of a novelty in Triangle Club shows and that's why we're running this picture as a conte-on for "Cracked Ice," the 1971 Triangle show due at McCarter on Thursday, April 29. Singing a song about Jonah and the Whale — or as we're informed — are Sarah Hofstadter, Claire Townsend, Dibby Donnell and Sharon Alve.

"TRIANGLE'S" "ICE"
 "Extravaganza!" The director says so, anyway, and what with the possibility of elephants, motorboats, motorcycles and even sword swallows, Director Oscar Fruchtman (Class of '71) may well be right.

"Cracked Ice," the Triangle Club's 1971 show, will play McCarter Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 29, 30 and May 1, all at 8:30 p.m.

Bill Metzger, president of Triangle, says this is "a change from formula Triangle shows. Though the message this year is not political and the style is not didactic, the students are expressing their own ideas through humorous sketches and songs and they offer a moral to their entertaining stories."

who did "Endgame" while back for Theatre Intime. "Hardesty Park" will be performed May 7 and 14-15 in the theatre at the Unitarian Church on Cherry Hill Road, so Miss Brophy and her cast are deep into rehearsals.

Miss Brophy, when she isn't using her maiden name, is the wife of "Adam Smith" — George Goodman, who wrote the recent best-seller, "The Money Game" under the "Adam Smith" pseudonym.

Professionally, however, Miss Brophy would rather be known as director and actor. She played on tour with Talulah Bankhead in "Private Lives" and appeared in such productions as "The Heiress," "Second Threshold" and "For Love or Money."

On television from 1951 to 1966, she appeared in Playhouse 90, Mervin, the Philco

Hour, Ben Casey, Slattery's People and a suds-full of daytime soap operas. In 1955, she starred in her own series, "Buckskin."

On film she's been in "Storm Center" with Bette Davis and in the Lillian Hellman "Children's Hour."

She is a graduate of London's Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

MURDER IN THE PLAYHORN: Pennington Players Cathy O'Connor, the Rev. Donald Thiel and Mary Rees receive direction from Ina Willner (right) for the group's upcoming production of "The Mousetrap," a murder mystery by Agatha Christie. The show can be seen this weekend and next in the Playhorn on West Franklin Avenue, Pennington.

News Of The Theatres

The murder mystery created by Agatha Christie will fill The Playhorn on West Franklin Avenue in Pennington this weekend as the Pennington Players present "The Mousetrap."

The play concerns a group of people snowbound in an English country guest house. Janice Gibson of Hamilton Square and Frank R. Marcell of Philadelphia portray the owners of the guest house.

The house guests include George Kalliois of Trenton, who received praise for his portrayal of Sancho in "Man of La Mancha." Dan Holland of Hightstown, who has been seen in Cactus Flower for the Players, and as Horatio in "Hamlet" at Washington Crossing Park last summer.

Also Cathy O'Connor, who has been seen in "The Sound of Music," and as the lead in "Tobacco Road," both for the players; Donald Thiel, associate pastor of the Pennington Presbyterian Church, who has appeared frequently on educational television in Pittsburgh; Sam Madole, who has appeared in "The Sound of Music," with the Players, and a 1st month completed a long run as a lead with the Players' touring Childrens Theatre group; Mary Rees, past president of the Players, who has had several leading roles in past productions.

Ina Willner, who holds a degree in theatre from the University of Maryland and is employed by Westminster Choir College, is directing the play. Gerald E. Guarnieri, president of the players, Mary Ann Salvatore, vice president, and Jack Rees are co-producing the play. "The Mousetrap" will be presented this Friday and Saturday and April 23 and 24 at 8:30. Telephone reservations may be made by calling Mrs. McBride at 737-3206 in Pennington or Mrs. Guarnieri at 392-1704 in Trenton.

"BREECH" AT INN New Brunswick Actors. The actors from New Brunswick's coffeehouse theatre B r e e c h West will present, "Nightpiece," by Wolfgang Hildesheimer this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Princeton Inn College.

Performances will be given at 8 p.m. each evening. Reservations may be made by calling 921-9814 between 4 and 7 p.m. the day of the performance. Admission is $5.50; student price, $1.50.

"Nightpiece" tells about a man who cannot sleep until he has emptied himself of the images of his lifetime—images that are sometimes terrifying, sometimes delightful, rather like a psychedelic trip.

Richard Shepard, who played last season in Brecht West's "The Lesson" by Ionesco, will play the man who wants to sleep. A burglar who stumbles into the situation by accident, will be Eric Krebs. The founder of Brecht West, Mr. Krebs has written, acted in and directed many plays for the theatre. He directed "A Raisin in the Sun" for McCarter last fall, and Dylan Thomas' "Under Milkwood" for the Villagers Theatre in Middleburg last spring.

IT'S NEW To Us

MEET GROUP NINE

Lawrenceville Decorators
"We call ourselves 'Group Nine' because each one of us does the work of three people!" This gleeful retort drew a laugh from all three partners: Hugette Roberts, Eunice ("Pat") Davis and Sorena Weisberg.

They're settled in at 2665 Main Street in Lawrenceville, and have been there since last August, although their original reason for being was to work "with Princeton people who have limited funds. We felt Princeton lacked this," Mrs. Davis says.

The Lawrenceville base has proved very productive and Group Nine may never take up headquarters to the house it owns on Moore Street near Bellows' Tree House. The house, located in a commercial zone, has a parking problem. In Lawrenceville, you just head into the big lot at the rear.

Group Nine is a good humor, cooperation of interior decorators from Princeton who total 21 years in the field. Freelancers all at one time, they have found working together so harmonious that one can pinch hit for another if need be. Their theme seems to be a flexible, relaxed type of decorating, keyed to the type of life the householders lead, or to the demands of an office.

Hugette Roberts tells of the bride and groom, ages 19 and 20, who came to Group Nine for advice. "The bride wanted the apartment to look like her mother-in-law's house. I believe that young people really should have the fun things that are comfortable, so that as their taste changes they can be flexible. They can play with cute, gimmicky things that are very inexpensive and that aren't easily destroyed by small children."

"We worked very hard for her, we kept going back and forth showing her things, and she ended up with a very comfortable, but a young-looking apartment, which she adored."

Last week Group Nine began consultations with a woman who had lost everything in a fire. "She was overwhelmed at all she had to do," Pat Davis reported.

"I know what I would look for in an interior decorator," Sorena Weisberg said last week. "I'd find someone whose work I like, and who would listen to my ideas and make me feel that they were worth listening to. Some clients get overpowered by a decorator. We try very hard not to do that!"

Group Nine roams the gamut of assignments. One member is doing a new shop in Lawrenceville, another has just finished a bachelor apartment. They worked together on a heart specialist's office in Trenton (with particular concern for the elderly) and converted two Nassau street apartments into visual education offices, meeting special

Wien, Ties, Ties!

Times, they are a-tantalizing by their sewing remnants will be intrigued by the way Nina Garrett of Faculty Road has paralyzed her remnant pile into a spare-time business.

To years ago, Mrs. Garrett rummaged through her cotton pieces and made birthday neckties for her husband Peter, an assistant professor of English at Princeton. She learned by taking an old tie apart.

One tie lead to another as admiring friends placed orders and by last Christmas she was using silks and tradelands and Japan. The "Nina" label is on each beautifully made and interlined tie, and you'll find them priced at about $5, at Gallery 100 from time to time (each batch sells very quickly).

"Fashionable, but not mind boggling," is the way she describes her work in this month's "How to Make Money in Your Spare Time" series in the Ladies Home Journal.

needs for camera and editing room.

There's a client who's re-turfing after 20 years ("she's open to all sorts of exciting ideas!"), and another who is moving from an old house to a new one ("It's a challenge to arrange the old furniture in a new house!"). Assignments have ranged from this area to New York, New Brunswick and Cherry Hill, with a side jaunt to Montreal. "I will gleefully say we haven't had an unhappy client yet!" Pat Davis asserts.

"We take a day every few weeks and roam the antiques markets for clients, and we go to New York every week. We often take our clients along," Hugette Roberts says.

"I've worked with people who have changed their whole point of view, after coming with me to New York," Pat adds. "A wider world is opened to them, and they've changed completely, even their clothes."

Group Nine likes to work with a budget and with an understanding of the client's taste. "Carte blanche assignments are a lot harder than you'd think!" Assignments of ten start with a children's room, then perhaps the house-owner comes back with a request for a little help with the living room, then later, for advice when the family moves into a new house.

"We do anything and everything!" Sorena Weisberg says zestfully. "It's always exciting!"

THE BIKINI HAT

That's Miles wide. There's more material in a bikini hat than in the bikini suit, as you'll agree when you see them at The Tree House on Moore Street. Fantastically wide, with a good 18" brim in front, it's a wild take-off of a suit vester. In fact, you won't need a sun umbrella. About $8.

The hotpants ensembles, the accessories, the all-weather raincoats and the new sandals

The Tree House has plenty of big earrings, fascinating "ice cream suzannes" to wear around your neck, and handbags in canvas and suede. The suede bags swing from your shoulder and come in lovely, soft pastels. And to wear with your hotpants, wide, wide suspenders. Hotpants, or short shorts, at The Tree House often come with a button-down long skirt that is very graceful and larky. Sometimes it's a short suit with a wrapped skirt, a pair of quilted hotpants, matched with a long-sleeved, midriff top (unquilted) and long, shirred skirt held with two buttons at the waist. ($45)

Ribbon belts and short, puffed sleeves on the tops. And then, there's the bandanna dress, marvelous red and blue print squares of railroad engineer bandanas stitched in alternating blocks with solid red and blue squares, and made into a charming, puff-sleeved dress with a wide, boat neckline and long full skirt. Wear a sunbonnet with it, or the barefoot sandals in pastel suedes.

In Bellooms, which we can now reach through a passage-way from The Tree House, are some delightful hotpants outfits in light knits. The sleeveless top and pants are made with a ruffled front and patch pockets. Over it wear a bias wrap skirt, with a dero ruffle graduating from above the knee down to mid-calf in the back. This is a smoothsayer's print, filled with a whir of pink and white stars against a pink, lavender and blue background. ($80).

Back in The Tree House, we found hotpants in the culotte style, a row of pleats all a round, dropping from a low waistline in one of those fascinating positive-negative polka dot prints. The top (long sleeved) features navy with white dots, the bottom is red with white. Made of Banlon. ($34)

Three members of the Appari faculty have created new choreography for "Snow White." Miss Gibbons, director of the school, has composed a section called The Forest and the Dwarfs; Judith Catterall has designed "The Court Scene and Death of the Deer" and Colette O'Brady has done "The Mirror, the Witch and the Huntsman."

There's so much at The Tree House, nice Banlon knit dresses with an over the head turtle neck top ($20); rustic fun overalls in denim, madras patches and whatever. One of the raincoats has the Balkan look, with a border of printed embroidery at the neck, down the front, around the hem and at the end of the sleeves. Sounds a little much, but curiously enough it isn't. The fabric is oyster white, the embroidery is navy. There's a skirt of the same fabric, with an overall design in navy. You can't leave The Tree House without a look at the dourne, long-sleeved, ankle-length dresses in dark prints, which the younger girls adore. There's a 12" ruffle at the hem and a high puff to the sleeves of some. Right off the Conestoga wagon.

In another mood and style, the dancers will present "Dances from Sheherazade," reproduced by Judith Catterall for the Fokine choreography for the original Ballets Russes. The ballet is based on tales from "The Arabian Nights" and there will be Sultaness of the Harem and Favorites of the Sultan.

TERRY CLOTH PRINTS
 And Gamy Fabrics. Right inside the door at The Fabric Center, 28 Witherspoon Street, is an impressive array of Cannon's terry cloth in marvelous prints, ready to be made a beach dress, short shorts, or whatever your imagination sees. Imagine technicolor stripes of Nile green, shocking pink, chartreuse, white and deep blue, for instance. And a aeneamane-magical garden in lavender, blues, leys and oranges. Or choose a water splashed print of soft lavender, the palest green and rich blue. There are many to choose from. (3 1/2 yds) $1.98 prints; 1.69 solids).

The third ballet in the Appari—Continued on Next Page—light arrangements of tiny flowers against a white background to rows of varicolored dots. There are dominant prints of aster-shaped flowers in soft green, scattered against white background, and a necktie print of dark green with luminous centered diamonds. (45" wide, $1.39 yd)

The printed kettle cloth offers a number of uses. Here again, the choice ranges from solids to prints. The Amish theme on one, and the orderly row of daisies on another. There are patch patterns, too. (61.79 yd)

The polyester double knits at The Fabric Center include some good stripes for summer, sky blue, chartreuse, white and navy, blending all in differing widths. You'll see a pink, nearly peach, knit with a delicate raised weave. And the lovely misty heather look in pale blue green with a tracing of white. Also geometrics in a three-dimensional pattern ranging from beige to mauve shades. (60" and 64" $4.98 to $5.98 yd.)

Teen's have designed the show, written it, lined up the talent, and are performing on camera. (The show has already been presented in previous weeks.)

It's all an advance for the New Jersey State Teen Arts Festival to be held at McCar-ter Theatre and the N.J. Cultural Center in Trenton May 10-14.

Regional festivals are now being held throughout the state and from them selections will be made for the big Festival in May.

Performances, work shops and exhibitions will be free during the four-day run of the Festival at McCarter. Reservations may be made at Mc-Carter, 521-8700, and at the State Museum, 292-6347.

PLAYHOUSE

The Aristocats (now playing) is an animated film very much in the style of a feline
"Lady and the Tramp." The basic idea is the relationship between a very well-bred lady and her alley cat friend who comes to her rescue.

Some delightful animal characters are introduced to live up the adventure of a journey across the French countryside to Paris. There are imaginative and entertaining sequences.

For type castings: you'll hear the voices of Eva Gabor and Phil Harris in the lead roles.

GARDEN

Entertaining Mr. Sloane (this Wed. Thur. Fri.) is a black comedy about an off-beat household, with sex overtones and a bizarre murder. The author is the late Joe Orton, an English playwright whose
"What the Butler Saw" was an off-Broadway hit this past season.

The case of four includes
Peter McEnery as the blond, bisexual hustler; Sloane; Berry Reid as the forthright, nyphomaniac female; Harry Andrew as her brother Ed and Alan Webb, as one of their senile old Dadda.

The Fobias Project (Sat. and Sun.) a beautifully-made science fiction thriller, the monster movie for the 1970's. The story is set in the unspecified future, when the magnificent computer, "Colossus," which handles the U.S. defenses, announces that it has a counterpart in Russia. Dr. Forbin, the American computer's master, and his human counterpart in Russia, struggle to control the monsters they have created.

The largely unknown cast takes themselves seriously in dead pan style, and the computer soft and hardware is a superb compilation.

The Milky Way (Mon. and Tues. April 19 & 20). Director
Luis Bunuel uses two tramps, Pierre and Jean, as protagonists in his virulent opposition to the Church of Rome. They journey from Paris to a shrine in Spain, a trip that is punctuated with theological encounters, ranging from scenes of the life of Christ and episodes from the history of heresy to a child with stigmata and martyrs of the Inquisition.

Film Scheduling Criticized.

To the Editor of Town Topics: A man's maturity is in proportion to his prudence, justice, fortitude and temperance. Faith, hope and charity adds to this maturity. It seems imprudent to me for the Big Brothers of Greater Princeton to choose Good Friday as the date for the Benefit Performance at the Garden Theater.

This Association does good work and my family of five would have attended their benefit, had another date been selected.

I sincerely hope the Big Brothers of Greater Princeton will take this matter into consideration upon selection of future dates of Benefits.

MARYELLEN TAGLIAFERRI
77 Lillie Street
Princeton Jct.

Error in Judgment?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I think this is a fair question: was it a serious error in judgment and good taste which caused the scheduling on Good Friday of a benefit movie for the Big Brothers of Greater Princeton?

Was it simply a mistake where the date of April 9 didn't bring to mind at the moment arrangements were made that this is the saddest day in Christendom?

With the opportunity of nine successive days starting April 10 open to the children — out of school all that time — one hopes it was not a deliberate plan to choose such a totally inappropriate day to raise funds, for however worthy a cause.

Of all organizations, the Big Brothers, which exists to give disadvantaged boys the chance of seeing what a wholesome and stable life can be by offering friendship, kindness, and a shoulder to lean on — could not have intended, surely, to give such monstrous bad example.

Squeeze on Housing.

To the Editor of Town Topics: What do people think of when they read in our local papers, as they did recently, that a home in a moderate rent area of town has suffered a fire?

Do they extend their imaginations to wonder where the displaced family can go? What housing alternatives exist in Princeton? Do they realize that such families become separated and eventually may have to leave the place where they were born, lived and worked all their lives?

There is a housing squeeze in New Jersey which appears here, as elsewhere, by affecting most those of low and moderate income.

Some of the factors we should be aware of are these: 1) No new low or moderate housing is yet in sight for reasons too complicated and depressing to recount here.

2) Because of the zoning in certain areas such as Witherspoon St., some landlords are finding it profitable to get rid of residential tenants in order to bring in higher — paying commercial tenants. Legally, they have every right to do so.

3) An increasing number of students living off-campus, while not meaning to do harm, are competing successfully with community people for lower rental housing.

4) Housing code enforcement will continue to be a farce as long as there is no state law giving tenants, with or without leases, protection from unreasonable rent increases and from landlord reprisals for reporting housing code violations.

Recently, a Landlord-Tenant Agency bill was proposed in the state legislature. It was an imperfect bill, but at least was the first attempt to bring some modicum of justice into landlord-tenant relationships. Mayors from our major cities pleaded for its passage as did hundreds of the elderly, the Black, those on moderate, low or fixed incomes.

This bill, which had bi-partisan sponsorship, was defeated by an almost 2 to 1 vote in the Republican caucus. If you believe that the situation described is part of the sickness that so desperately needs healing in America today, your political representatives should hear from you.

Write about the death of $972, the Landlord - Tenant Agency bill, to state Senators Reid and Cauce and to Assemblymen Schluter and Weidel.

Princeton Firemen Praised.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Every so often are reads in the local papers (following a traffic accident, fire or burglary) a letter from a grateful resident expressing his appreciation to the Borough or Township police or fire department. But of course it never really hits home until it happens to you.

The fire Easter Sunday afternoon on Witherspoon Street which destroyed the third floor over my teaching studio was out when I reached the scene. On entering my second floor studio, fearing the worst, I found heavy canvas coverings over two grand pianos and another over stacks of music chairs, files (carefully placed) in another part of the room. Water was dripping from the ceiling, but damage to the instruments had been averted.

Someone's concern and quick thinking helped in this situation. When I tried Sunday evening to track this down I was told by John Reed of Hook and Ladder and Chemical No. 1 whose stamp was on the covers that it was a "combined effort" by all the personnel from the Borough.

I share this experience with fellow Princeton residents because it is important to consider our good fortune in the quality of what is many times an unrecognized, anonymous service.

END OF A SUCCESSFUL YEAR: One of the more popular programs offered by the Princeton Recreation Department — its baton twirling class for girls in grades 5-8 wound up its fifth year last week with this demonstration for parents in the John Witherspoon School auditorium. "It's a treat to watch them progress; when you see them start off, they can't even hold a baton properly. They have really come a long way," commented recreation head Don Barr. Cathy Beacham is the instructor.

Racial Disturbance Erupts on Nassau Street

Three young persons were treated at Princeton Hospital for injuries Tuesday afternoon, following a disturbance between whites and blacks on Nassau Street that police were able to bring under control before it became a melee. There were a half dozen arrests.

Taken to Princeton Hospital were Benjamin Rush IV, 20, 448 Walnut Lane, who sustained head injuries; Louis A. Hickey, 17, 34 Akon Avenue, who received a contusion over her eye; and Gary Lee, 16, 90 Westcott Road, who received lacerations of the left temple. All were treated and released. Rush had been arrested earlier in the morning by Township police, who charged him with a theft at the Princeton Shopping Center.

First to be arrested was Anthony Boone, 18, 116 Leigh Avenue, who was charged with malicious mischief when he allegedly threw a rock through a glass door of the A&S Lunchette, 86 Nassau. The complaint was signed by Samuel Davidson, operator of the lunchette. Boone faces a court hearing April 21.

Also arrested, according to Chief Peter J. McCrohan, were four to five juveniles. All were released to their parents after being charged by Det. Tim Huiuzing with fighting and causing a disturbance. They face future action by juvenile authorities.

The disturbance erupted a few minutes after 3 on the campus in front of Nassau Hall and spread across Nassau Street. Hundreds of spectators on either side watched as Borough police, aided by Township police, tried — successfully — to restore order.

Three hours after it began, police were still interviewing participants and witnesses at Borough headquarters. Additional charges are pending, police said, following completion of their investigation, headed by Sgt. Robert Anderson, Det. Huiuzing and Ptl. Thomas Michael.

In a brief comment, Chief Peter J. McCrohan reported that the disturbance apparently started when two white youths — Rush and Samuel Paken, 23, of Trenton, became involved in an argument with some blacks on campus.

Topics Of The Town

Later, they and other older youths on campus were chased by a group of juvenile blacks across Nassau Street.

Sought Refuge in Bank. Some of those fleeing sought refuge in the Princeton Bank and Trust Co. Two outside and two inside doors of the bank were broken, Chief McCrohan said. Bank officials called police to quell the disturbance, now raging up and down Nassau between Palmer Square and Witherspoon.

Twice, additional police were called back to prevent the situation from heating up again. Tempers flared momentarily at 3:25 when three police had to subdue one combatant to get him into a patrol car. At one point, a nurse from the hospital called requesting a couple of policemen "because it's getting awfully touchy."

A woman witness sitting in a patrol car told of seeing the Hunchy girl struck right in front of her. "She was just standing when this guy came up and hit her in the head with a stick," she described it as a broomstick with a piece of shiny metal at the end, "like a horseshoe. I don't know what this town is coming to," she said.

Miss Hunchy, meanwhile, sat in another patrol car, holding a handkerchief over her swollen eye. "Please take me to the hospital," she cried.

The Rev. William Kight, a street worker who knows virtually all the youths in building, commented that he wasn't surprised. "It's been building up for some time," he said. "It may be a long summer, and then it may blow over completely," he observed.

How It Started. Apparently, the entire incident was triggered by a $5 loan that was never returned.

Coleen Beers, 23, of Trenton, wearing an American flag blouse, recalled at police headquarters where she waited for word of her boyfriend, Sam Paken, that about a month ago she had given a black youth $5 to buy her some beads. He never did and never returned her money.

Tuesday, she was sitting on the campus lawn with Paken and several other students when she observed the youth and told her boyfriend about it. She reported that Paken went up to him and said, "How about giving my girl's money back?" The youth just laughed, she said, and commented "That's life," and the two began to fight.

Whereupon, Beers continued, another black pulled a switchblade knife and tried to slash Paken. "He really tried to cut him; he dove at him twice," she said. "The other white kids began throwing sticks, papers — anything they could get their hands on," she went on, "to try to protect Sam."

The battle gradually erupted into full-scale fighting, with weapons ranging from knives to pieces of broken glass. When Paken ran into the A&S Luncheonette, a pursuer tossed a rock through the window after him. It was then that police began to arrive on the scene, eventually restoring a tenuous peace.

TAILOR SHOP BURNED

By Sunday Fire. The Nassau Tailor Shop, housed in the second and third floors of a brick building at 14½ Witherspoon Street, was damaged Sunday afternoon by a general alarm fire.

The blaze started on the third floor of the tailor shop operated by Ignace Karasovsky, damaging his equipment and burning some material. It burned through the rafters to the second floor, also occupied by Mr. Karasovsky and the John Ellis Music Studio.

Damage to the second floor was mainly from smoke. There was also slight water damage to the Princeton Army Navy Store which occupied the first floor.

That must have been some hot fire to burn through two by ten-inch rafters," commented Alvin Bonin, owner of the Army-Navy Store. "And for all that, this is all we got; it's really something," he said Tuesday in his store which, a side from a faint smell of smoke, had no evidence of fire.

Firemen Praised. "They did an excellent job in confining the fire," Mr. Bonin said. He described how they had managed to enter his shop without breaking the glass front door and how they had quickly sprayed tarps to catch water trickling through the openings in light fixtures running down the center of his ceiling. ## "Art People Party" Should Charm Everyone

A Maypole dance and a doll carriage parade... a singing chorus of live midshipmen from Annapolis... folk dancing you can join in your seat... a potter at his wheel... rock bands and Nassau Street's roadway to roam in... That's the "Art People Party" sponsored by the Arts Council of Princeton and scheduled for Saturday, May 19 from noon to 6 p.m., and please don't rain on my parade!

Nassau Street will be closed from 3.5 p.m. between Chambers and Witherspoon Streets according to Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley. Palmer Square will be closed to parking the whole day and the Party will begin at noon with a if carriage, baby carriage, tricycle and hicycle parade all around the Square.

Mrs. Neal O'Connor, president of the Arts Council, gave a progress report Tuesday on the "first annual" party.

So far, over 20 organizations are joining with the Council to make the Party. This includes all four of Princeton's secondary schools, whose pupils will provide strolling actors, musicians, clowns and mime artists. Those Annapolis midshipmen will sing outside Bainbridge House, headquarters of the Princeton Historical Society.

at 3 p.m. The Society is very excited about a portrait it's been given of Commodore William Bainbridge, who was born in the house in 1774, and that's why the midshipmen.

Members of the Society in costume, will be hosts at Bainbridge between noon and 6 p.m., and recorder groups will be playing during the afternoon.

That Maypole dance will also be held at noon. At first, it will be a properly flouncy old-fashioned Maypole dance, but Mrs. O'Connor has revealed that it will end with a good hard rock beat. It will be danced several times in various locations. Dancers are for the Princeton Ballet Society.

The Princeton Folk Dance group will give a 90 minute presentation in the afternoon, and anybody who wants to, can join right in.

A real live caller will perform in taped music for the Princeton Squares, the square dance group. They will be, as appropriately enough, in Palmer Square.

Student potters in the University's Creative Arts program will demonstrate their craft at a potter's wheel, and high school area students will show how to make macramé. Sharon Stinson will arrange 96 mosaic-top tables — each one by a student — along the side walk.

Outdoors, on Nassau Green in front of Nassau Hall will be the art show sponsored by the Princeton Art Association and the Chamber of Commerce. In addition, individual craftsmen are invited to set up a table, and show and sell their wares.

Dancers from The Annapolis School will perform, probably in the "Scheherezade" they will dance the following day in their own Festival. Groups of singers from Westminster Choir College and the Princeton Folk Music Society will stroll the Palmer Square-Nassau Street Nassau Green area throughout the afternoon. Salamaundi will set up its rock-and-light show, and will provide two or three rock groups for Nassau Green. "Down from the Attic," a band for a slightly older age group, will also be around.

Fashions designed and sewn by members of the Princeton Youth Center will be displayed in a fashion show, and Community Players will do improvisational theatre.

Twenty young Chamber of Commerce guides, identified by mini-skirt or straw boater depending on the day, will guide the multitudes.

And sandwich boards will be used instead of programs — no litter that way!

tendency toward segregated male and female job classifications, and the "women's job receiving lower pay."

NOW also criticizes the University for its plans to limit the female undergraduate enrollment to 25% of the student body.

The report concludes that "there can be no doubt that the time has come to formulate and implement affirmative action plans for Princeton. This University is generously supported by public funds, both directly and indirectly. The use of such funds to support any institution which accords women and men the sort of differential treatment which results in a male-female ratio in the undergraduate body of (a projected) 3 to 1, in the administrative staff of 3 to 1, at the full professor level of 136 to 1, in the general faculty of almost 36 to 1, in the Office Staff of about 1 to 24 and in the maintenance and service staff of about 124 to 1, is certainly open to challenge."

Ellen Morgan, a spokeswoman for the Academic Task Force of the organization's Task Force of the University Chapter which conducted the study, said that copies of the report have been sent to President Goheen and other university officers, and it will be made available to women and men throughout the University.

"We want to bring the situation to the attention of members of the University community so that they can remedy it," Mrs. Morgan stated. She added that the Task Force has not yet made specific plans for future activities.

SHOOTING PERMIT UP
Renewing Asked. The Anders Sportsmen's Club has asked for renewal of the skeet and trap-shooting license for its Herrington Road property and the request will be before the Township Zoning Board this Thursday at 8 p.m. in Township Hall.

The area adjoins Mercer County's Herrington Woods Arboretum last week, county representatives and spokesmen for the former Township Open Space Commission protested granting the permit on grounds of both safety and noise factors.

Tinkerbell, Meet Mrs. Rutherford Stuyvesant Pierpont

A lost sea-lion far from home and a Princeton animal-lover far from Nassau Street, met, under a host star last month on the Gulf coast of Florida.

The Princeton animal-lover is Mrs. Rutherford Stuyvesant Pierpont, who lives at 1 Hasett Avenue. Most Princeton residents know her as an animal-lover who works at it with full-time zeal, tending her name, time and energy to a variety of causes dedicated to the well-being of animals.

The sea-lion is Tinkerbell, or so it developed as the story unfolded. Normally, "home" to a sea-lion means the cool waters of the north-west Pacific, the Indian Ocean or the South Atlantic, not the warm shores of the Gulf coast of Florida.

Mrs. Pierpont's two grand daughters were started when a sea-lion interrupted their early morning swim in the waters of the Gulf off the Grandmother's Boca Grande winter home.

They would probably have been started, anywhere. A sea-lion! All five feet of him. And . . . playful or not?

Safety First. The girls, age 10 and 12, quickly waded ashore and climbed the flight of steps leading from the beach to the Pierpont patio and swimming pool.

The sea-lion followed, one pinger after another. Once on the patio, the animal's exhaustion caught up with him and he collapsed on the stone, refusing food and the friendly advances of Mrs. Pierpont and her granddaughters.

Later that morning, Mrs. Pierpont mentioned the sea-lion to a neighbor, Arthur Houghton, president of Steuben Glass and a director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The sea-lion wasn't a misplaced Landseer from the Museum, to be sure, but Houghton had contacts and he began to make telephone calls.

Ringling Brothers and Bailey? No, they're Seaqueuam? Nobody miss-hadn't lost a sea-lion. Miami, ing.

What to Do. A friend in New York who knew something about arctic animals said the sea-lion should be covered with a towel soaked in salt water to prevent dehydration. Eagerly and instantly done.

Finally the New York Aquarium suggested the Sea Mammal Motional Institute of Key Colony Beach, Florida, and Mr. Houghton placed the call. One of the institute's directors, Mrs. Robert Horstman, answered the phone. "Why, you've got Tinkerbell!" she exclaimed.

The animal was identified by a crippled flipper, broken some time before, and a wound from a more recent encounter with a barracuda.

Tinkerbell responded immediately when she heard her name. "Her whole personality changed," said Mrs. Pierpont according to reports in Florida papers. "Instead of looking barky and mean, she relaxed and ate the fish we gave her."

Freedom Found. With other mammals at the Institute, Tinkerbell is allowed to swim free and out of captivity as part of the Institute's various projects. Mrs. Horstman said she had been experimenting with Tinkerbell in the Dry Tortugas when the animal darted away from the Institute's boat and did not return.

The sea-lion had covered about 160 sea miles from the spot off the Dry Tortugas, where she abandoned ship, to the Pierpont's beachfront pool. Mrs. Horstman came to Boca Grande and took Tinkerbell back "home" by station-wagon.

Another Princeton resident Mrs. W. H. Sayen, Jr., 140 Springdale, who was visiting Mrs. Pierpont at the time, raises the question of extra-sensory perception. "What rapport existed," she asks, "between this lost and bewildered creature and the animal-loving Mrs. Pierpont? The answer must be love . . . so strong that Tinkerbell felt the pull of it and recognized at once that here was security and understanding."

"Designed as a series of walking and driving tours, the guide explores Princeton historically as well as geographically. It is interesting to people who live here, as well as to visitors, because it pokes around in parts of town not usually covered in the standard histories and it contains the occasionally tart comments of its researcher-author." — Town Topics

CALLEY IS A SCAPEGOAT: The trial and verdict of Lt. William Calley, which has an entire nation searching its conscience, is discussed by Edward Esposto (left) and Phil Bernard Lenhardt. Both think Lt. Calley has been made a scapegoat.

Question Of The Week

Question: What has been your reaction to the Calley trial and verdict?

Where asked: Nassau Street.
Daniel Haneremesh, 86 N. Stanworth, teacher, economics, Princeton University: I think it was a fair verdict. Perhaps they might have indicted the men involved in planning the strategy that forced Calley into the situation. I also think Nixon should have kept his hands off at this state because the judicial process hasn't run its full course.

Edward Esposto, 9 Harriet Road, glazer for Nim Glass: I think President Nixon should be on trial; he's the Commander-in-Chief. I think Calley is the scapegoat for the whole ar my top command. . . this incident got a little bigger than they expected and they needed somebody to blame it on. Poor Lt. Calley got stuck holding the bag. He really got it. The army wants you to react to their orders without thinking sort of brain washing. That's the way they train you. I hope Nixon lets him go.

Bernard Lenhardt, Hamilton Township, Borough patrolman: I think he's been made a scapegoat, definitely. The army's taken the bottom off the ladder and said, "Okay, it's your fault." If they are going to use that as a rule of thumb they will have to bring in 100,000 boys from World War II, 50,000 from Korea and another 50 from Vietnam and charge them all with assault and murder. It's sort of ridiculous after training this individual — the army had 32 weeks of training invested in him — to train him to kill, send him over there and say, "You're on a war" and then charge him with murder. A wipe out operation is what he was involved in. To charge him with murder is like blaming a three-year-old kid for saying his father told him to pay for a parking ticket.

Sam Paken, Trenton, motor cycle mechanic: I think the military should let him go. I think Nixon is trying to get advantage of the situation by intervening for political reasons. They had no business trying him in the first place. There are lots of people over there; these things happen in war.

Midan Mallon, Morrisstown student: I don't think he's innocent. I think everybody's guilty including President Nixon and President Johnson.

Michael Tausig, Sumner street, Princeton University instructor: I think the verdict is fair. Although I think the trial has left a lot of questions unanswered about the conduct of war, I feel there is sufficient evidence that he committed murder. I think Nixon should not have intervened the way he did at this stage of the trial.

Marvin Blumenthal, Lawrence Township, designer for B. F. Weisbecker, architect: I have much the same sentiments that has already been expressed by some — that Calley as an individual is guilty of committing murder, but to hold him personally responsible for the entire organized establishment, that is the military, which has been conducting this war and will continue to conduct it, is to make him a scapegoat. I don't think he should be completely exonerated but the verdict as it stands now is far too severe. As for Nixon intervening, I think that is something that had to take place. It's become a very hot issue; it's something he had to do with respect to his political future.

Shari Saffee, 95 Langview Drive, 73 grader, Middle School: I don't think he should have been convicted. He was taught to kill and he killed — so why convict him? If he wasn't taught to kill and if he wasn't given a gun he wouldn't have killed. I don't think Nixon should have entered it. He's going to get it from the public either way — from those who wanted to see him convicted if he frees him and the other way around. He should have minded his own business.

Patti Rose, 21 Tyson Lane, 7th Grader, Middle School: I think the whole war should stop and if they are going to convict Calley they should convict everyone who kills someone in war. Rather than get involved in the trial, I think Nixon should get us out of Vietnam.

Thomas Shaughnessy, Dunellen, professor at Rutgers University: I believe he got a fair trial and if his judges say he is guilty, I believe them. My regret is that he seems to be taking all the blame.

Ronald Jones, Henry Hall, Princeton University student: I think Calley has been used as a scapegoat; they should protect the officers who were ordered it up. I think putting it all on Calley is a way of easing the public's conscience. If the other high officers who are involved aren't going to be implicated, then Calley should be released.

Danny Katz, Ringoes, employee, Cousins Liquor Store: I think the whole war is ridiculous. I think the whole army should go up for trial. I wouldn't go out and demand strategy for Calley — he went overboard to kill the way he did — but I could see how it could happen: he was trained for what he did. . . his buddies were getting killed. . . I blame the army and the government more than anything. I certainly don't think the army should put him on trial — they trained him and sent him over there in the first place. The army orders bombs dropped that kill civilians and children and they're not up for trial.

Gregory Goga, Lawrenceville, student at Rutgers: If he were acting on orders, I feel both he and his superiors are responsible. He is morally responsible because he shouldn't have acted on those orders; but his superiors are equally responsible for giving them. If he was exercising his own initiative, then, of course, he is responsible. Anyway you cut the pie I think he should be in jail. I don't think Nixon should be intervening; it completely undermines the whole system of military justice. I think he is taking political advantage of the situation.

ART TOUR PLANNED
Of Private Collections. A tour of five private art collections in the Princeton area preceded by art exhibit, lecture and sandwich luncheon at the Unitarian Church will be held Thursday, May 13, at 11:30. The exhibit at the church will include works by the winners of the New Jersey State Museum's sixth annual juried show. Prof. Patrick J. Kelleher, Director of the Art Museum at Princeton University, will be the guest lecturer.

Included in the tour will be Dorothea Greenbaum's collection of American artists of the 1930's and her own sculpture and graphics. In other collections, the tour provides a variation of periods and media, ranging from examples of African primitive art to prominent surrealist and cubist paintings.

The tour is sponsored by the Parents' Assn. of the Chapin School as a benefit for the school. Tour tickets are $6 and include the cost of the luncheon and art lecture. To write for tickets, send $6 to Chapin Home Art Tour, 331 Riverside Drive, Princeton. For further information, call Mrs. Mary-Ann Charan at 921-2332.

FORUM SCHEDULED
On Repression and Civil Liberties. "Racism and the Law" will be examined at a Princeton University on Monday at 8 p.m. when three black speakers address a forum on Repression and Civil Liberties in McCosh 46 on campus.

The speakers are W. Haywood Burns, Director of the National Conference of Black Lawyers, an attorney for Angela Davis; David Clark, a Black Panther who charges severe harassment by Trenton police; and Bobby Lee Williams, shot by a Plainfield policeman in July, 1967.

Mr. Burns contends that the American legal system is severely tainted with racism. "It is unrealistic," he says, "to speak of major structural change and fairness to blacks in the legal system without examining the social context in which the law operates."

"It is unreasonable to think that in a racist society the law, or any institution, can completely transcend that racism. Changing the law involves changing America. In a nation of inverted priorities, misallocated resources and inhuman, materialistic values, it is too

The forum is sponsored by the Princeton Faculty-Student Ad Hoc Committee on Peace.

ART In Princeton

VARIED PRINTS SHOWN
At Gallery 100, in the current show at Gallery 100, printer Ann Gross has taken segments of the contemporary scene and given us her own skillful and sometimes amusing interpretation. In a virtuoso display of printing technique combined with an eye for the clever combinations of subject and form, Mrs. Gross portrays some passing views of American education, suburban living, and the problems and complications of a general.

Intaglio printing and silk screen are effectively combined in most of the prints. This allows for the precise use of color and an effective use of large white areas, with textural contrasts created by inkless relief printing. The combinations of shaped, stamped spaces, fine line and color provide a constant visual play between the various elements of each print.

A literary feel is part of this exhibition in that the story told in many of the prints is as important as the visual effect. Always present is the technological age and its creeping intrusion into our lives. Computerized school children, the automobile and rows of tickety-tacky houses confronting the commuter play against delicate, pale prints of the solitary skier, enabling the viewer to do some thinking in combination with his esthetic experience.

Mrs. Gross has been included in the New Jersey State Shows and other major competitions throughout the area. Her work is on view at the New Jersey State Museum in the current show and is included in the permanent collections of art museums and exhibit throughout the state.

Indian Art on View. A concurrent print exhibit at Gallery 100 exhibits the range of effects this versatile medium can provide. The graphics of Shreeve Munchi present an unusual and beautiful blending of traditional Indian art and contemporary graphic forms. In her first Princeton showing, this internationally known artist captures the flavor of her Indian heritage in a well designed and technically fine collection of etchings.

An atmosphere of mysticism is present in many of the prints. Religious symbols are scattered throughout, as well as animal forms, paisleys, formal flower motifs and small ornate patterns. These are themes that are traditionally present in Indian art. They are found in the temples, in wall paintings and in the miniatures and mosaics that represent the main body of art in India.

The artist has kept the essence of these themes in a richness of pattern, the formal motif and the mystical feeling of an unknown presence in her work. She has combined these forms, however, in a fashion that embodies current graphic style and a modern feel for design.

Large, geometric areas, multiple color printing and combinations of etching techniques are all skillfully used. The strong contrasts created by her spatial relationships and the small, unusual symbolic patterns create a feeling that is both exotic and profound.

Shreeve Munchi has exhibited widely throughout the United States. She has received many awards in her own country and has been given a one woman show of graphics, batik and painting at the Brooklyn Museum.

A Century Ago, "Architectural Drawings and Paintings by English Artists of the 19th Century" is the title of the current show at The

MUSIC

In Princeton

WATTS TO RETURN

To Piano Recital. Andre Watts, who burst upon the musical scene in 1962 when he was 16 years old, continues to attract audiences who follow the leading keyboard artists of the day.

The young pianist will return to Princeton for a Music-Art-McCarter concert on Tuesday, May 11. Tickets are now on sale at the McCarter box office.

It was in February, 1963, that the young Watts appeared as soloist with Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic in a televised Young People's Concert. He played the Liszt Piano Concerto and made such a spectacular impression that three weeks later, he was engaged to replace Glenn Gould when Gould became ill before a regular Philharmonic subscription concert.

fine pen and ink works all have the unifying theme of architecture, but also provide lovely small landscapes, a display of fine technique in the various media used and some very sensitive portrayals of buildings that are as much art and history as they are architecture.

Though the work of English artists, the exhibit includes scenes of Russia, Italy and Germany as well as England. The most familiar English scenes include an interior of St. Paul's, a drawing of the Tower and a painting of Brighton Pavilion that captures all the exotic whimsy that went into the conception of this most unusual structure.

A feeling of times long past is evident in both the subject matter and the fine, elegant manner of presenting this unusual grouping.

WATCH LEATHER-WORKER

At Work. A demonstration of leather working will be given this Sunday from 2-4 p.m. at the Mill at the Forge Studio Gallery in Millstone.

The craftsman will be Jeffrey Slaboden, an artisan who has been working in leather for seven years. A resident of Neshaun, and a teacher at Franklin Township High School, he has operated his own shop in Brielle and will show his work in May at the Trent House Association exhibition in Trenton.

Starting with a tanned hide, Mr. Slaboden will strip, edge and dye the leather, incise a design, attach a buckle and complete a whole belt during the demonstration. He will explain each procedure as he works, and answer visitors' questions.

Alice Artzt

CHAMBER ARTISTS HERE
In "Series II" Program. A chamber music concert, featuring Leon Kirchner as pianist and composer, with Eudice Shapiro, violinist; Michael Tree, violist and Leslie Parnas, violoncellist will be held next Monday at McCarter at 8:30 p.m., bringing the Princeton University concert series to a close for this season.

The program will be two piano quartets by Mozart and the Sonata Concertante for Violin and Piano, and "Trio for Violin, Cello and Piano by Leon Kirchner."

Mr. Kirchner has received numerous awards as a composer. In 1962, he was elected to the National Institute of Arts and Letters, and in 1967, his String Quartet No. 3 won the Pulitzer Prize. He is well known also as a concert pianist and conductor.

Eudice Shapiro was a student of Efrem Zimbalist at the Curtis Institute. She has played with most of the major orchestras in this country, and has performed in chamber music concerts with Heifetz, Flatau and Arthur Schnabel. She is the head of the Violin Department at the University of Southern California.

Leslie Parnas won second prize in the 1962 Tchaikovsky Competition in Moscow. He has participated in the Casals Festivals in Prague and Puerto Rico, and has given solo recitals in this country and abroad.

Michael Tree, also a student of Zimbalist at Curtis, is violist of the Guarneri Quartet, and performs in chamber music concerts at the Marlboro Festival in Vermont and at the New School of Music under Alexander Schneider.

PLAY IT AGAIN

To Perform Modern Works. The Da Capo Chamber Players will present a program of contemporary music this Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the Woolworth Center Rehearsal Room at the University campus.

Members of the group are Joel Lester, violin; Helen Harbison, cello; Patricia Spencer, flute; Allen Blustine, clarinet and Joan Tower, piano. All have performed and taught in the New York area, and share a particular interest in contemporary music.

The group has been in existence for some time under the name "Empire Chamber Players." The new name "Da Capo" underscores their idea that contemporary pieces should be repeated now and then in concert, thus contributing to their enjoyment and understanding. The group's repertoire is large, combining old and new music.

This Friday, their program will consist of works by Beethoven, Bartok, Wolpe, Villa-Lobos, Stravinsky and Davidovsky. The concert is open to the public, admission free, under the auspices of the Friends of Music at Princeton.

MISS ARTZT TO PERFORM

In Library Program. Miss Alice Artzt, classical guitarist, will present a program at the Princeton Public Library at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Miss Artzt, who lives in New York City, studied guitar in France and England, and has done graduate work in composition and musicology at Columbia University. She has performed as a soloist in the United States, Canada, Europe, and Latin America. Included in her program for the evening of April 20 will be a composition by John W. Duarte of England, dedicated to Miss Artzt. The program will be presented in the Library's Meeting Room; no tickets are necessary.

SUNDAY MEETING SET

For Musical Amateurs. The next meeting of the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs will be held on Sunday afternoon, at the Unitarian Church. Mrs. Barbara Connely Lewis, choral conductor at the School of Fine and Applied Arts at Boston University will conduct the program. This meeting will be a Cappella and the program will be: Palestrina's "Stabat Mater" and "Assumpta est Maria."

In addition to members of the Society, musically interested persons are cordially invited to participate or attend, and should contact Mrs. M. B. Gottlieb at 921-7214 if they wish to do so. There is a small charge for non-members to cover music and refreshments.

TWO OPERAS PLANNED

Westminster Students to Sing. The first American performances of "Dunstan and the Devil," a one-act opera by Malcolm Williamson, will be performed Friday and Saturday, April 23 and 24 at All Saints Chapel, along with "The Happy Prince," another opera by Williamson.

The cast for these performances will be comprised of students of Westminster Choir College where Mr. Williamson is composer and residence for the 1970-71 year.

PEOPLE In The News

James M. Golden, 707 Kings-ton Road, a sophomore at Princeton University, will be part of a 14-man team of undergraduates engaged in an environmental study of the Pine Barrens.

The group from Princeton and elsewhere will gather in formation about present and likely future use of Pine Barrens land, study the availability and quality of water in the region, and try to estimate the effects of future population growth on the ecology of the area. It also hopes to recommend specific zoning regulations that will conserve the water resources and ecology of the area.

The project, led by Thomas J. Givnish, another University sophomore and a skilled amateur naturalist who has had a long interest in the Pine Barrens, will be funded by a $13,810 grant from the National Science Foundation. The students will receive $80 a week for the 10 week study plus expenses.

The group is now accepting applications for six remaining positions. Needed are two students with special knowledge on botany or ecology; three with knowledge of urban studies or regional planning; and one with a knowledge of physical chemistry. Faculty advisor to the group is Dr. David J.J. Kinsman, associate professor of Geological and Geophysical sciences at Princeton.

Edward Littlejohn, 8 Lafayette Road West, will head the new Public Affairs Division of Pfizer Inc. The new division is the result of a merger of the firm's public affairs and public relations departments.

Mr. Littlejohn joined Pfizer International in 1964 as Vice President of Public Affairs. In 1960 he was appointed Corporate Director of Public Affairs. Among the positions he held prior to joining Pfizer were Director of Public Relations, Burroughs Corporation; Manager Public Relations Department and Executive Assistant to the Board of Directors, Humble Oil and Refining Company.

Mr. Littlejohn holds the degrees of Bachelor of Science in economics from the London School of Economics and Political Science, and Master of Arts in government from Harvard University.

Three Princeton area students have been named to the Dean's List at Beloit College, Beloit, Wis. They are: Stephen H. Burlingham, a senior, son of Mrs. Malcolm Sheldrick, 191 Carter Road, Doyle, N.J.; Drueding, a freshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Drueding, 24 Jefferson Road; Michael L. Lavine, a freshman son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Lavine, 372 Dodds Lane.

Susan Peters, Canal Road, Griggstown, was one of 143 Beaver College students cited for their academic achievement at the college's annual Honors Convocation held last month.

Miss Peters was presented The Columbia University Teachers College Book Prize given to a member of the junior class who displays the most constructive intellectual interest in educational issues.

Fifteen Princeton area residents, who will be entering college next fall, have been awarded scholarships by the State Department of Higher Education. The awards are worth up to $500 a year for four years or five if the student is enrolled in a five year program.

Some 20,676 students submitted applications and approximately 28 per cent or 5,352 were chosen. By law the number of graduates each year is equal to 5 per cent of the number of graduates the previous June from public and private high schools in the state.

The winners are: Rose Carvin, 361 Washington Road, Penns Neck; Lorella Chubb, 1000 N. 1st St., Princeton.

Tiger Ball Team Seeks First Place in Three Games This Weekend

Princeton's well-balanced baseball team will play three games this weekend on Clarke Field which will determine the leadership of the Eastern Intercollegiate League. The Tigers who began the week with a scintillating 11-1 record rarely equaled in the modern history of the sport here, face Army Friday afternoon at 3:30 and then play first place Cornell in two seven-inning games Saturday starting at 1 o'clock.

Action last week broke in favor of the Orange and Black, as Dartmouth, the defending champion, and Harvard, a primary challenger, each lost one of the three games they played. Princeton, meanwhile, was taking charge of Columbia in a frigid setting on the Lions' diamond, where the wind chill factor from the adjacent Harlem River had the temperature near the freezing point.

Big Bob Schiffrin, the Tigers' All-League first baseman, broke out of a mild hitting slump in the twin bill against Columbia. He collected a single, double and triple in the first game, which Princeton won, 8 to 3 and singled and homered in the second, raising his batting average by 100 points to .349. Although no one was aboard when Schiffrin connected for four bases, it was a vital blow because it kept the visitors even at 2-11 going into the top of what proved to be the final inning. They scored six runs in the seventh, largely on the strength of a pinch hit double by Pete Korsan, a pinch hit single by Len Coleman and a bases filled single that scored two by Captain Ray Huard.

SPORTS In Princeton

Sophomores Randy Blevins and John Kinne worked the second game, the latter winning in relief after they had scattered five hits between them. It was an 8-2 final. A key defensive play came in the bottom of the sixth when the Lions tried to score the lead run on a double steal with two out. Instead of throwing to second for a potential out-off play, catcher Bill Binder misread the runner off third.

Senior Jack Hittson, making his first start in nine days gave up two runs in the first inning of the opener, but improved steadily thereafter, striking out eight, allowing only six hits in all and issuing only a walk. His two run triple in the fifth provided insurance runs as Princeton drew even at 2-11 in the third and took the lead for good with a three-run fourth.

Manhattan topped in 13. The Tigers might have won last Thursday in regulation time had it not been for a dropped pop fly by second baseman Brady Sadek that allowed Manhattan to score a run in the top of the fourth. Huard's 340 foot home run to left in the last of the fifth accordingly only tied the score, and the two teams battled into extra innings.

After failing to score John Rooney when he led off with a triple in the last of the tenth, the Tigers were lucky to win before the game was called for darkness. The sun had set on Clarke Field, the moon was growing brighter in the last of the fifth when Huard put a leg hit with one out and moved to second on a sacrifice by pinch hitter John Davern.

Pete Korsan halted for pitcher Steve McLean and hit a home grand slam to short. A freshman, Dan Solarte, playing under revised rules which many colleges follow to use freshmen a first year, now throws the ball past first, allowing Huard to cross the plate with the run that gave the Tigers a 2-1 triumph.

The three victories last week stretched the Tigers' winning streak to ten in a row. For the story on Tuesday's game with Rutgers, see page 36.

TEN IN A ROW FOR CREW Tigers Top Navy Again. Athletes are a serious business at the nation's service academy where considerable emphasis is placed on victory. This is particularly the case where the Navy and water are concerned, and it has been most frustrating for the men from Annapolis to lose year after year to Princeton in rowing.

Saturday was no exception, as a Tiger crew that has largely been rebuilt from last spring won again on Lake Carnegie, running the Princeton string to its baffling average by 100 points to .349. ten in a row. The margin could hardly have been thinner — a scant deck length and, in time, a fifth of a second. The winning time for 2,000 meters was 6:39.8; Navy finished in 6:40, and it was no consolation to the losers that their Jayvees covered the same distance ten seconds faster under very similar conditions.

Coach Pete Sparhawk's crew never trailed, and Navy never quite managed to draw even, but it was a ding-dong battle over the entire distance. Ability to understroke the opposition paid off for the Tigers, particularly when they staved off the lasers' driving finish.

Navy won both the Jayvee and freshman races by comfortable margins. Strong crosses and chills throughout made the races difficult for the oarsmen and unduly frightening for the spectators, even for early April.

Princeton's 150-lb. crew was also victorious, defeating both Navy and Rutgers. Its margin over the second place midshipmen was about a length and a half.

In an accompanying regatta, transferred here because of unsatisfactory tidal conditions on the Harlem River, Yale won from Rutgers by half a length with Northeastern third. Princeton's winning time in its race with Navy was about a half second faster than Yale's.

Saturday will find the Tigers on the Harlem River to race Penn and Columbia in the Chids Cup regatta. The Quakers are favored to retain the trophy.

IVY SEASON AT HAND

For Old-Beaten-Lawsor Team. Although in other years, competition has not been as rugged for Princeton's lacrosse team when the Ivy portion of its schedule starts, there is no firm reason to believe that the Tigers are in for much of a rough sailing this weekend. Not only did they go into this Wednesday's game with a strong Army team still looking for their first victory but they have not played particularly well against the four opponents which have swamped them.

Saturday saw Navy score six times in the first 15 minutes at Finney Field, quickly erasing a 1-0 lead the home team had taken as early as 1:07. It was 8-5 at the half, and the mid-dies outshot the losers, 23 to 8.

Clear indication of the defensive problems the Tigers have was reflected in the third quarter when Navy hit on almost 90% of its shots. The mid-dies fired at the Princeton goal 13 times, connecting on six of them. It was a 15-4 final.

Brown is on the schedule Saturday at 2 on Finney Field, the first of half a dozen Ivy opponents the Tigers must face. Yale is the early leader, having topped both Penn and Dartmouth, but Cornell, the defending champion, and Brown, last year's runner up, are the early-line favorites.

STICKMEN LOSE, 15-5

Pogry Here Friday. Too little practice, too few reserves and too much opposition added up to a 15-5 defeat here Monday for the Princeton High School lacrosse team — its third straight in three games. The Little Tigers will try to reverse things Friday at the expense of PHS which will oppose PHS here at 3:30 at Community Park Field. Saturday at 1:30, the team will be at Peddie in Hightstown. It was scheduled to be at Lawrenceville School Wednesday at 3:45.

Monday at Community Park, visiting Montclair, 12-2 last year, made PHS its third straight victim this year. The perennially strong Mounties outscored the home team 6-0 in the first period and held a 11-2 bulge at the half. After that, the outcome was academic.

PHS had only two midfielders and two reserve players to face Montclair. "That was the main thing," commented coach Marvin Trotman, who said that he felt Montclair was even stronger than Maplewood, which last week stopped PHS, 14-3.

In addition to being weakened numerically by Easter vacation, PHS had to go the entire game without its number one goalie, Nick Robinson. Robinson suffered a bruised thigh in the Maplewood game and hasn't been out since, Trotman reported.

Schock, Stone Score. Mitchell Schock and Steve Stone collected goals for the Little Tigers in the second period. In the third, co-captain Phil Noller assisted on a goal by middy Bob Mangan's first score of the year.

PHS added its last two within space of 40 seconds with less than two minutes to go in the game. Noller got one and Joe McGuinn the other. Brooks Morhamm, filling in for Robinson in the goal, had seven saves in the first half.

"The attack did all right but it didn't have the ball often enough," observed Trotman. Last week's surprise snow storm moreover, cut practice time available on Community Park field and the team is finding out that it takes practice and lots of it to become a lacrosse power.

Indications that there may be no immediate change in the Jayvee score. The Montclair reserves defeated their Princeton counterparts, 16-0.

PDS SETS SIGHTS

On Improved Lacrosse Season. In three seasons of varsity lacrosse, Princeton Day has yet to top the 500 mark, coming closest two years ago with a 4-5 record. This year the Panther stickmen may surpass that with something to spare.

A number of veteran players returning from last year's squad plus added depth have given coach Clint Wilkins cause for quiet optimism. Some 25 boys, has given Wilkins plenty of material to work with.

Wilkins sees the Blue and White improved at all three positions. Co-captain Tim Smith will spearhead the Blue and White's attack, aided by John Gordon and Art Mitnacht. Backing them up will be Peter Moore and Dave Barach.

Midfield, the weakest point last year, has several candidates including Sam Rodgers, George Mayzell, John Moore, Howie Vine, Jeff Ferrante, Cam Ferrante and Bill Warren. Two newcomers to the sport are also trying out at midfield, Rob Gips and Peter Fischer.

Defense will be anchored by co captain Tom Worthington and John Kalpin, both back from last year, plus Andy Tomlinson, Paul Funk and George Treves. Veteran Andy Houston will be the goal backed up by Rob Andresen.

The Panthers open their schedule with back-to-back games against George School, the first scheduled to be played at PDS this Wednesday afternoon, the second at George this Friday, Wednesday, April 21, the team will travel to Hightstown to take on the Peddie School "B" team.

EWING HERE THURSDAY
For PHS Track Test. Aside from a few isolated performances, the Princeton High School track team failed to impress in losing its opening dual meet, 91-35, last week to Bridgewater Raritan.

It will be out of the frying pan into the fire for coach

LITTLE TIGER DASH MEN: Phil White and Don Owens will run anything from the 440 on down, according to coach Larry Ivan, but will concentrate on the 100 and 220 for the PHS track team.

Larry Ivan's Little Tigers who will entertain Ewing High School Thursday afternoon at 3:45. Ewing is always at or near the top in track in Mercer County. Monday, the team will host St. Anthony's at the same starting time.

Thursday on a cold, windy afternoon, Bridgewater Raritan swept the low hurdles, 440, two mile, pole vault and discus to build up an insurmountable lead against the visiting Little Tigers. There were some 'good signs' mentioned by Ivan — sophomore Tom Drury winning the shot, and Billy Evans, out for the sport for the first time, winning the 880 against a veteran — but these were canceled by some disappointments.

Among the latter was Larry Parker fouling three times in his specialty, the javelin; Joe Bolster's sub-par performance in the mile, and Princeton's failure to do anything in the pole vault where it did absolutely nothing last year.

Ron Rhodes First. Ron Rhodes captured first place in the long jump for PHS with a leap of 20.9, while Daryl Boone tied for first with a fine 6-0 in the high jump. Richard Jackson finished third, prompting Ivan to remark: "We've made great strides there."

Don Owens (10.4) and Phil White (10.5) finished second and third in the 100, and Parker atoned for his failure in the javelin the would have won with a toss of 185 feet but an official ruled the throw "didn't break ground" by placing second in the 220. Freshman Dave Riddell took a third in the high hurdles.

Bolser, captain of the team, captured second place with a 4:40 mile, which Ivan termed "not good." "He was content to stay in second place and ran his opponent's race instead of his own," Ivan stated.

One meet into the season, Ivan is looking for a few more second and third place finishes — and warmer weather.

ROB HOLZMAN FIRST
in Sunfish Competition. In the first official races of the Carnegie Sailing Club's spring series, Bob Holzman finished first Sunday in the Sunfish competition. Nine boats competed.

Jack Kunz placed second and Tom Huntington, third. John Hopfield, a Penguin skipper, borrowed a Sunfish to sail in the fifth and last race and surprised the regular Sunfish sailors by capturing that race.

Hopfield and other sailors in the Penguin and Stoop classes were disappointed when the Easter holiday held the number of participants in these classes below the minimum required for an official race.

We have a great future behind us.

It took us 23 years to get this far. Obviously, we didn't make it on our good looks.

The Beetle we make today bears a striking resemblance to the 22 Beetle that preceded it.

That's because we invested all of our time in making a Volkswagen better and lighter, instead of wasting our time making it look different.

To date, we've changed and improved our basic model thousands of times.

And some things we left alone. You can still squeeze a lot of miles out of one gallon of gas. Our air-cooled engine is still impressive to temperatures of 10 below and 110 above.

And when you part company with a Volkswagen, you still get something tangible to remember it by. Something green.

In fact, according to the NADA Official Used Car Guide, the same Volkswagen Beetle that sold for about $500 less than the average economy car three years ago, now sells for about $700 more.

So today, as we look at all the new economy cars trying to learn in one year what it took Volkswagen 23 years to learn, we can muse on something somebody said almost 200 years ago.

"The best index of the future is the past."

Because if that's true, we have a beautiful past to look forward to.

TIGER NINE WINS 12TH
Largely on inside Baseball. When you can't hit, Eddie Donovan has always felt, boot. At New Brunswick Tuesday, his well-drilled ball players bunted three times and scored four runs, all they needed to make Rutgers their 12th victim by a score of 6 to 2.

Trailing 10 in the top of the fourth, the Tigers filled the bases on a bloop single over short by Bob Schiffler, a pitch off Hank Bjorklund's thigh and a walk to Bill Binder. Captain Ray Huard's perfect bunt toward third went for a hit, scored Schiffler and kept the bases loaded.

Sophomore Brady Sadek also bunted. Bjorklund crossing the plate. When the third baseman let the ball roll, hoping it would go foul, it went far enough past third to allow Binder to come home from second.

Huard reached third on the play and Donovan again flashed the bunt sign. Pitcher Bob MacDonald lost control at the sight of a third straight square swing, throwing so close to the batter, Bill Coppedge, that it got by the catcher for a wild pitch and the fourth Princeton run of the inning.

One Close Call. The Scarlet 15th, prompting Donovan to remove Coppedge, who had been out of action for three weeks with a muscle pull. Sophomore John Kinn replaced him, working his way out of the inning in the last of the eighth when the tying run was on second with one away. A fly to second base and another to left did the trick.

The victors pushed across two insurance runs in the top of the ninth on a walk, two more bunts (one of which the Rutgers relief pitcher threw in to centerfield), a single and a fielder's choice. Schiffler was the only Princeton batter to hit safely more than once, the Tigers producing 10 safeties to six for the Orange and Black. Rutgers lost one scoring opportunity after another as it stranded 14 runners. Three Princeton double plays, one ending the game, did much to bail out Coppedge and Kinn when trouble loomed.

PIS LOSES, 11-3
To Cathedral Nine. Held to three hits and three runs by Cathedral pitcher Jim Gilsdorf, Princeton High School lost its second game of the season Monday to the Gaels on the latter's diamond, 11-3.

Coach Harry Zoll's nine will try again for that first win Thursday against Ewing which defeated Council Rock, 11-3, in its last outing. The game will be played here at 3:45. On Monday the team will entertain Lawrenceville School also at 3:45—and on Tuesday it will travel to Hamilton.

At Cathedral, the Little Tigers scored all their runs in the fourth, but by then the home team had taken a 6-0 lead. Catcher Dave Mansue doubled and singled for two of the losers' three hits. Don Crosby, the losing pitcher, doubled for the third hit.

Cathedral got all the runs it needed when it jumped on Crosby for four runs in the first. Bob Pastor, Gael catcher, was the batting star, rapping two doubles and two singles in four at bats. His first inning double drove in two runs.

Crosby pitched the first four innings, giving up nine hits and seven runs. He struck out two. John Schumacher finished up the last two innings. He was touched for three of the Gaels' 12 hits. Cathedral (2-1) scored in every inning.

Maybe someday all cars will be built like the Citroen.

Maybe someday.

Maybe it depends on you. When you demand a car, for example, that would ride like a Rolls but costs like a Chevy. One that would take curves like a Maserati but seats a five full passengers. A car that would be in every sense a luxury car—yet burns gas like a tiny Volkswagen (27 MPG).

Maybe you could get that kind of car from Detroit if you demanded it. Or you could buy one right now. It's called a Citroën. Just go to your nearest Citroën dealer and test drive it.

Learn how many other cars may someday be; and how someday is today with a Citroën.

HENDERSON HAS SERVICE
For Transferred Home Owner. Homeowners, faced with the task of relocating in another city, can now arrange for the immediate sale of their home here at its appraised value, through a service offered by John T. Henderson, Inc.

Through a unique arrangement with Potere, Inc., a New Jersey based home-purchase firm, the Henderson firm offers the only equity purchase plan in Princeton. The plan provides cash quickly to finance a new purchase in the new town, thus eliminating one of the major worries that face people when they must relocate.

The Henderson office can provide this plan for the Princeton, Hopewell and Pennington communities for individual clients. Up to now, Potere, Inc. has been providing the service to major corporations only.

Offers to purchase will be based on an independent appraisal of each property, minus real estate commission, legal fees and other usual costs of sale, and a nominal service fee charged by Potere. From the time a seller accepts the Potere offer he will have a limited period in which his home can be sold on the open market. In the event of such a sale, the Potere transaction will be cancelled.

News Of The CHURCHES

NEW STRUCTURE ASKED
For Interfaith Council, After a dole time year, the executive committee of the Princeton Interfaith Council is proposing a "Princeton Interfaith Commission" to succeed the PIC. The matter is high on the agenda of the annual meeting next Wednesday, April 21, set for 8 p.m. at Christ Congregation, Walnut Lane.

Chairman William B. Martin Jr. notified church representatives this week that much of the meeting would be devoted to discussion of "continuation of the existing structure of the Princeton Interfaith Council and alternate organizational structure suggested in the proposal, or a possible blending of the two."

The present PIC is continued, a new slate of officers will need to be presented.

Rationale. The executive committee prefaced its proposal with the following: "The present structure of the Council has proved to be unnecessarily cumbersome and complex in effectively serving the interfaith concerns of the community."

"The Council has not elicited adequate support from constituent groups. A reason for this is the prescriptive style engendered by the Council's structure. ('We, the Council, think this should be done in Princeton,' instead of 'responsive style.' 'We, the Commission, hear that you, the members of a religious group or groups, think this needs to be done and are prepared to facilitate your proposal in concert with other religious groups')."

In the guidelines offered by the executive committee for an interfaith commission, were the appointment of one delegate from each participating congregation who would be responsible to the Council as the body of the congregation; that the Princeton Pastors' Association executive committee be accepted as standing members; and that the Commission and the Pastors' Association exchange extracts of minutes pertaining to all matters of shared concern.

Also, the Commission would elect its own officers, or the call of one delegate or at intervals of their own choosing. Funds of PIC would be turned over to the Commission with the exception of the 1970-71 fiscal year which would be refunded. The Commission would work up an operating budget and solicit funds from the member congregation.

The Commission would also be empowered to enlist the help of non-delegates to carry out specific projects for a specific length of time.

An interim committee, also proposed by the PIC executive group, members to be named at the annual meeting. Its duties would be to refund the 1970-71 contributions, notify all eligible organizations of the approval proposal, receive nominations of delegates, and call the first meeting of the new Commission.

INDEPENDENCE NEARS

For All Saints' Chapel. Final plans for the new Trinity Episcopal Church and All Saints' Chapel were taken at a recent special meeting of the congregation, pending ratification by the Diocesan Convention during the first week in June.

"There are deep ties between two congregations," Canon James R. Whittemore, All Saints' rector, said. "We are united in the parish bulletin. 'Yet it is my belief that the life of the Episcopal Church in Princeton can be strengthened by this new relationship of two parishes operating independently on most matters but joining together for those important things that we can best do together.'"

Trinity Parish unanimously adopted the recommendations of a committee of ten chaired by the Rev. Dr. J. Edgar Van Dyke. The new chapel was founded in 1960 to meet the problem of overcrowding in Trinity and built on church lands off Van Dyke Road.

In the division of property, the old brick dogwood Lane Chapel is to be conveyed to the chapel, approximately 10-acre tract on the corner of Van Dyke Road will be sold and the remainder conveyed to the new All Saints' Chapel. The church and Chapel Committee with Trinity Parish retaining joint control and a financial interest, exempting the land immediately surrounding the Chapel.

All funds given to Trinity for All Saints' Chapel will be transferred. The cemetery and the nursery school will be operated jointly by the two parishes. The report of the committee also dealt with insurance, salaries, pension and other matters of implementing the separation of the two churches. Members of the study committee were included: the rector, Henry Bessire and Richard K. Painter III of the church and Chapel Committee; George Ordiance, William Plummer III, G. Reginald Bishop Jr., Samuel Frothingham, R. Evan Gray, John H. Wallace and Hugh D. Wise Jr., chairman, all present or former wardens of Trinity or All Saints.

Their report had been previously endorsed at a joint meeting of the Vestry of Trinity Parish, the Trinity Church Committee and the All Saints' Chapel Committee.

Do we need to remind God to help us?

No. Because God, divine Love, is always ready to help. What we have to do is pray with an understanding of His love and guiding care.

You will hear some outstanding examples of practical, effective prayer in a talk by John Richard C. Kenyon of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

The subject of his talk is "Where Do We Look for Guidance?" It's a refreshing and entirely logical view of prayer.

A large drop leaf table of San Domingo mahogany (especially fine wood).

A Gaudy Dutch lamp now identified as War Bannet, a slight imperfection but nonetheless extremely valuable — selling "as is" or with restoration. Still, quite a lot of course. A large perfect slipware Penna. pie plate.

THE WIND — carved wood, a piece of primitive tool art on iron wire, probably part of a weather-vane. Can silver, since 18th Century, all identified and dated including some of Missusager's great antiquities.

A limited signed edition of Alamy's "The Great Depression" now in circulation perfect condition, also, Sleeping Beauty, a signed edition, inside fine but never slightly marked.

Surround yourself with trees, grass and history.

There's plenty of all three on what may be the highest spot between New York and Philadelphia. Certainly it's one of the most beautiful. Just 15 holes to play will be custom built from your plans or ours abutting Greenacres Country Club Golf Course. Each will share in a sweep of common land... and in views and privacy all but vanished these days. Isn't all this worth $50,000 or more?

Once we sold this house to a man who had looked at about forty other houses! He said, "This one is a potential charmer," set about making it one and was transferred out of town. Ditto the next owner. Now the house sits — living room, dining ell, paneled family room, kitchen with eating area, three bedrooms, one full and two half baths — waiting for our man's predilection to come true. What it needs: finishing touches and tender loving care. What it has: a delightful, secluded setting overlooking Stony Brook; lovely greenery, running the gamut from puchsans to pines; a Western Township location for only $52,500

Does your wife watch her figure but ignore her body?

Don't give her the benefit of the doubt. Ask her. Find out when she last had a Pap test. Or examined her breasts for cancer. Or had a complete health checkup.

Put her on the defensive. Tell her that nearly 100%, that's right, nearly 100% of all uterine cancers are curable if detected early. The Pap test detects them early.

Make her understand that thousands of women with breast cancer are being saved when their cancers are detected early. Monthly self-examination helps detect early signs of breast cancer.

See whether or not she knows the seven warning signals of cancer. She won't. So tell them to her:

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge. 2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere. 3. A sore that does not heal. 4. Change in bowel or bladder habits. 5. Hoarseness or cough. 6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing. 7. Change in a wart or mole.

If a signal last more than two weeks, make her see a doctor without delay.

Then, after you get all done lecturing your wife, let her lecture you.

It makes sense to nag your spouse into routine health checkups.

It makes sense to give to the American Cancer Society

If a volunteer does not reach you please send your contribution to the American Cancer Society 88 Lakedale Drive, Trenton, N.J.
